

POLIS is a network of leading European cities and regions working together to develop innovative technologies, policies and solutions for local transport.

The Network's aim is to improve local transport through integrated strategies, taking into account the economic, social and environmental issues at stake. Polis fosters cooperation and partnerships across Europe with the aim of making research and innovation accessible to cities and regions.

For its Brussels office, Polis is looking for a project officer that will be employed on a full time short-term contract (1 year with the possibility of an extension).

The main tasks associated with this position involve:

- Contributing and managing Polis' involvement in European funded projects on urban and regional mobility, in particular dissemination, communication and training activities;
- Coordinating Polis membership services on the environment & health impacts of transport;
- Monitoring relevant European policies and supporting Polis policy initiatives.

The successful candidate will be expected to have:

- a university degree
- some years of working experience
- knowledge of the transport field
- affinity or experience with European institutions and European research and demonstration projects
- excellent knowledge of English, both spoken and written
- good communication skills

Ideally, he/she should be able to join the Polis team in February 2012.

Applicants are requested to send a letter of motivation together with a CV before 5th January 2012 to Polis, Mr. Sylvain Haon, Rue du Trône 98, 1050 Brussels, fax: +32 2 5005680, shaon@polisnetwork.eu .
