

Rules for E-Visionary Award in Europe & Africa

1. Who can submit its candidacy

Any city, region or community within Europe and Africa can present its candidacy. The application can be submitted by either the authority itself or an organisation on behalf of the authority.

2. How to apply

Applicants need exclusively to fill in the form available via AVERE national sections or on www.averse.org or www.evs27.org.

Applications should be written in English.

Every candidacy will have to be presented to AVERE before the deadline set by the Bureau (1st September 2013) either via its national sections or if the candidacy comes from a country where there isn't one, directly to AVERE's Bureau (info@averse.org)

3. Criteria

The city, region or community will have to demonstrate in their application an extended commitment to electric mobility and prove a long-term thought and concern for the quality of life of their inhabitants by fostering the uptake of electric mobility and reducing the level of CO₂.

4. Process of selection of candidacies

Each National Section of AVERE will call for candidacies in their own country.

Each National Section will then select up to 3 finalists in their country to present to the Board of AVERE.

If a candidacy comes from a country where there is no National Section of AVERE than the candidacy will be directly addressed to AVERE's Bureau (info@averse.org).

If there are more than 3 candidacies coming from the same country, where there is no National Section of AVERE, the Bureau will be in charge of selecting up to 3 finalists for this country.

The Board of AVERE will select the winner of the Award of the E-Visionary for Europe and Africa from the list of finalists.

5. Presentation of the Award

The representative of the winner of the E-Visionary Award is expected to attend the closing ceremony of EVS 27 in Barcelona on November 20th 2013 and will have free access to EVS27.
